Respuesta modelo:

- 1) Describe: In the first picture I can see a busy traditional market with many people buying fruit and vegetables. In the second picture, a person is shopping online on a phone at home.
- 2) Compare: The market is more social, because you talk to the sellers, but online shopping is faster and you can do it from home. The market is also better for fresh food.
- 3) Speculate: I think in the future more people will shop online because it is easier. But I hope traditional markets will not disappear, because they are part of our culture.

Speaking Part 2 · Tema abstracto (3 preguntas · 1 min prep + ~2 min)

Tarea: Habla sobre el impacto de la tecnología en la forma en que nos comunicamos. Responde: ¿cómo ha cambiado? ¿qué ventajas y desventajas tiene? ¿cómo será en el futuro?

Respuesta modelo:

Technology has changed the way we communicate a lot. In the past, people wrote letters or called on the phone. Now we use messages, video calls and social media every day. The biggest advantage is that it is very fast and cheap. I can talk to my family in another country in seconds, and that is wonderful. It is also easy to share photos and news with many people at the same time. But there are some problems too. Sometimes people look at their phones too much and they don't talk face to face. Also, messages can cause misunderstandings, because you can't hear the person's voice. In the future, I think we will use even more video and maybe new things like virtual reality. But for me, talking in person will always be the best way to communicate.

Speaking Part 3 · Presentación sobre un tema (1 min prep · ~90 s)

Tarea: Haz una breve presentación equilibrada: ¿debería el transporte público ser gratuito para todos? Da tu opinión y justifícala (1 min para preparar · ~90 s).

Respuesta modelo:

In my opinion, public transport should be free, or at least very cheap, for everyone. I think this is a good idea for two main reasons. First, it is good for the environment. If buses and trains are free, more people will use them and fewer people will use their cars, so there will be less pollution and less traffic. Second, it helps people who don't have much money. Everybody needs to travel to work or to study, and free transport would make their life easier. Of course, it is expensive for the government, and the money has to come from somewhere, probably from taxes. But I think it is worth it, because a good and cheap transport system helps the whole city.

Speaking Part 4 · Pregunta de seguimiento sobre tu presentación (sin prep · ~45 s)

Tarea: Pregunta de seguimiento sobre tu presentación (sin tiempo de preparación, ~45 s): «¿Sería justo el transporte público gratuito para quienes apenas lo usan, como la gente que vive en el campo?»

Respuesta modelo:

That's a fair point. It's true that people in the countryside use buses and trains less, so free transport helps them less. But I still think it is fair, because everyone pays taxes for things they don't always use, like schools or hospitals. And free transport in cities means less pollution, which is good for everyone, including people in villages.
